

I invite you to “PAGE IT FORWARD”

I created PAGE IT FORWARD in response to those who like to loan out their books.

When another friend wants to read your copy of my book, I'm thrilled that you want to share my book with others. I realize some don't wish to purchase a book, and rely on other readers to make those recommendations.

However, I bet you haven't thought about the ripple effect of sharing a book from the writer's perspective. Especially for those of us who self-publish and need to purchase every service for our books to be published, we lose income each time someone borrows a book.

THAT'S WHY I CAME UP WITH 'PAGE IT FORWARD'

Here's how it works:

When you purchase an autographed copy of my book from me, I will ask for the name of YOUR local library or library branch. Then, I will send a copy to YOUR library, in your name, so that others can read my stories without borrowing your books. In that way, YOU are supporting your local library!

IT'S A WIN-WIN!

Please PAGE IT FORWARD the next time you order a book from me!

Your name will become a part of your library's legacy!

Thank you!
